

Job description : R&D Manager

SICO is a company leading in formulating, manufacturing and packaging aerosols and liquids since 1949. We are today looking for our new R&D Manager (M/F).

In a tough competitive environment, your first tasks are to optimize the existing ranges and to elaborate with the Sales and Marketing Departments our new products.

Thanks to your strong experience in the formulation of sprays and liquids, you propose substitute products and are at the origin of the constant improvement of our formulas, dealing with the safety rules in partnership with our Legislation Manager.

Profile desired

Fourth or fifth-year university level graduate or engineer, you have already experienced to work in a R&D department for a manufacturing company, or for a producer of veterinarian items, disinfectants or insecticides, which are our core business.

Autonomous, with good relationships, you are a creative and innovant person, you like teamwork and are well-known for your natural leadership.

Proactive, your rigor of analysis, your adaptability and your pragmatism will be the necessary qualities to manage your department's projects, from the studies and tests to the industrialization of the products.

Persons to contact

If this profile is your own, if you like challenges, Please apply to the following address :
Headquarters : SICO - 577 Rue du Pommarin, BP 16, VOREPPE 38341 MOIRANS Cedex - to the attention of the Human Ressources Director, Mrs Guillaumot.